Skeleton board - Fish bones or skeleton. Energy board produces and saves energy while used.

Extinct animal: animal study of an “extinct animal”. How did it look like? (fur, skin, scales ...), tryouts in many different ways.

Theories: Microplastic in the ocean is so common that it is normal for archeologists to mistake plastic for bones. Leash get’s mistaken as umbilical cord. Different shapes and numbers of finns are different races.

MICROPLASTIC became so common in seas that animals of the time adapted and started to digest it into valuable nutrition.

Siff: water is toxic so therefore the long handle.
